Senior Communications Officer
International Treatment Preparedness Coalition
New York, NY

The International Treatment Preparedness Coalition (<http://www.itpcglobal.org/>), an international grassroots organization which aims to improve access to treatment for HIV/AIDS around the world, is seeking a jack(or jill)-of-all-trades who can help them with internal coordination, website management, and external campaigns. Most of your communications work would be online, though there would be some journalist outreach as well. Experience with HIV/AIDS and multi-lingual skills a plus.

To apply or request a full job description, contact Howard Lee (hlee@itpcglobal.com). Applications (cover letter and resume) will be accepted on a rolling basis. There is no deadline.
